Stress Need of More Leaders For Girl Scouts

Harrisburg has a population of 11,000 persons and in this mass are a large number of women with qualities of leadership. Several hundred, I should say.

And in this population of 11,000 are a lot of young girls. Girls below teen and in their early teens. Also in this community is a Girl Scout movement. It is very good for young girls. They learn lots of things that are helpful to them. And a lot of these young girls are ready to join the Girl Scout movement but haven't.

So you say: "Well, what's stopping them?"
"I'll tell you: Not enough leadership. Not lack of leadership, because the leaders they have now are qualified and capable. But there aren't enough leaders to take care of the girls."

There are lots of capable women in this town but either they are too busy, not interested, or just haven't had the proposition of assuming Girl Scout leadership put before them.

Officers in the Girl Scout movement are appealing to adult leaders to come into the organization. The national program will provide free training for all leaders; so the excuse that you wouldn't know what to do with a bunch of girls isn't a good one.

Want a graphic example of the situation here?

Mrs. Charles O. Farrar, one of the present leaders, has 21 girls ready for intermediate scouting.

Why don't they go ahead and get into intermediate scouting?

The Girl Scout organization can't find a leader.

Want another?

There are a number of young girls at the proper age and wanting to go into a new Brownie troop. But they can't. Why? You know by now.

HUMOR DEPT.

LITTLE MARY: Mother, they are going to teach us domestic science at school beginning next week.

MOTHER: You mean domestic science, don't you dear?

FATHER: There is a bare hope our little girls means what she is saying.

Five Persons Hurt When Cars Overturn

People who went to bed early last night were surprised when they found a light blanket of snow on the ground this morning, but the snow made highways slippery enough to cause at least two crashes involving local persons.

The snow, which started falling around 10:30 p. m., measured a half inch and melted quickly today as the temperature rose, but five persons were injured, four around 1 a. m. and another around 8 a. m., when automobiles left the road and overturned.

Injured were Mr. and Mrs. Louie Feazel, John Hayes, 71, and Pearl Hurd, 17, at 1 a. m. when Hayes' auto, driven by Feazel, 38, left Route 1 a mile north of Norris City and overturned.

All were brought to the Harrisburg hospital and all were hospitalized except Miss Hurd.

Injured this morning around eight o'clock on Route 13 a short distance east of Harrisburg was Catherine Wilmore of 610 South Granger street, a teacher at Consolidated School District 73 at Cottage Grove, whose car left the pavement and overturned. She is in the Lightner hospital with a broken shoulder.

City police said that the group in the wreck near Norris City were returning from Evansville, where they took the Feazels' son, John Louie, in the Navy, to catch a plane for Norfolk, Va.

Feazel suffered injuries to his left knee and right arm; his wife, Opal, suffered possible broken ribs, a scalp injury and lacerations on the leg; Mr. Hayes suffered a possible broken jaw, facial injuries and scalp laceration; and Miss Hurd had a laceration of the left elbow.

Mrs. Wilmore, when her car overturned as it went down into the borrow pit alongside the road, waded to the highway and flagged a passing motorist, who took her to the hospital, State Policeman Roy A. Lane, who investigated, said.

Inquiry Will Include Joppa, Scott Air Base

27 Witnesses,
Mostly Contractors,
Called to Testify

EAST ST. LOUIS — A federal grand jury investigation into labor racketeering in southern Illinois will begin here Monday.

The Federal Court's Eastern District covers all of southern Illinois, the eastern portion of the state as far north as Kankakee and the East St. Louis area, except Madison county.

Included in the grand jury's area of inquiry are construction work at Scott Air Force Base and a 160-million-dollar atomic facility at Joppa, site of recurring labor disturbances. The Joppa plant is being built to supply electric power to an atomic energy plant at Paducah, Ky.

Identity of Witnesses Secret

U. S. Atty. Clifford M. Raemer, who announced the inquiry Thursday, said 27 witnesses, most of them contractors, have been subpoenaed for the first grand jury session. He said the identity of all witnesses will be kept secret.

His assistant, Edward G. Maag, has been working mostly on labor racketeering.

Federal Bureau of Investigation and internal revenue agents have also been probing into the racket situation for months.

A federal grand jury at St. Louis, which is conducting a sweeping investigation into labor racketeering in the Eastern District of Missouri, reported it had found evidence of the same violations in Illinois as a by-product of its own inquiry.

The grand jury in St. Louis has indicted 17 AFL officials on racket charges and one has been convicted.

Stratton disclosed at a news conference Thursday he has invited leaders of 35 statewide organizations to attend a luncheon Feb. 16 to discuss a campaign for adoption of his remap plan.

The constitutional amendment, giving Cook county control of one house of the Legislature, was approved by the 1953 Legislature. It will appear on the Nov. 2 general election ballot.

Those invited to the Feb. 16 luncheon include labor, farm, civic and professional leaders as well as the presidents of the Illinois Young Democrats and Young Republicans.

"The campaign can be won with genuine bi-partisan support, both downstate and in Cook county," Stratton said. "I hope the leaders of these organizations will spearhead the campaign."

There has been no change in legislative districts in 53 years. The downstate area has a 3-2 edge now in seats in each house. Stratton's remap plan was a major work of the 1953 legislative session.

Stratton also told his news conference he believes the Democrats "missed the boat" by "ignoring" the April 13 Illinois primary election. None of the three Democrats seeking statewide office has primary election opposition.

The governor said it is "a very healthy condition" to have 11 Republicans running for the GOP nomination for the U. S. Senate.

Asked about his conference Tuesday with National Guard Maj. Gen. Harry L. Bolen, Cairo, and George F. Ferry, Chicago, the governor said he "enjoyed" it and the two were "very helpful."

Bolen and Ferry, former commanders of the 44th and 33rd divisions, came here to try to dissuade Stratton from his plan to merge the two divisions. Stratton, however, held his ground on that point.

Stratton dodged questions on whether he might modify the details of the merger plan as a result of the conference. He said Bolen and Ferry will bring him some "detailed suggestions" on how they believe a single division should be set up next Wednesday.

"I want to compliment them on their interest in the guard and the fact they want to do everything possible to have a good National Guard," Stratton said.

Successful Fracturing Test May Reopen Oil Boom in Tri-State

New Discovery
Expected to Increase Activity in Area

By BOB SKEELS

The most important discovery in recent years in the Illinois Oil Basin took place on Dec. 28, eight miles southwest of Decatur in central Illinois. A discovery that is likely to start the oil boom all over again in the Tri-State Oil Basin (Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky).

Sun Oil company completed an oil well on July 6 of last year in the Silurian limestone, eight miles southwest of Decatur in Macon county. Their No. 1 Joseph Damery, in the southwest corner of section 5-15-1e, more than 12 miles from other production, was strictly a wildcat test drilled to a total depth of 3780 feet through the Knox, Dolomite formation. When the Silurian limestone was cored and drill stem tested, it recovered a very slight showing of oil, hardly enough to be commercial. However casing was set and the well produced an average of 10 barrels a day, from 12 feet of poorly saturated Silurian limestone 1936-48, a very hard formation that hasn't proven very successful in this basin in past years.

"Kill or Cure" Test
The well produced a total of 510 barrels of oil for the last three months of 1953 or less than six barrels of crude oil a day, hardly enough to pay for the electricity to operate the pumping equipment.

In the mean time, Frank C. Ploeger, superintendent of operations for Sun Oil, and Harley Byrd, Illinois Division superintendent, also with Sun, got their heads together along with a number of other company engineers and geologists and decided to give the well one last chance.

No one had ever tried an enormous fracturing job, such as they give wells in the Texas oil fields, on any of the production in the Illinois Oil basin, so why shouldn't Sun Oil company invest a few thousand more in this operation that had already cost $50,000 to drill?

On Dec. 28, they gave the well a sensational "kill or cure" fast fracture job of 10,500 gallons of gel oil, 10,000 pounds of sand and 5,000 gallons of acid with a maximum fluid injection rate of nine barrels per minute. The well was then shut in for two hours.

Limited Flow
When the pressure was released and the hole opened, oil flowed from the casing at the rate of 30 barrels per hour, or 720 barrels a day, flowing over 1900 barrels before being shut in due to lack of tank space. On the 19th of this month, it had produced over 3900 barrels of oil and is now producing (limited) at 50 barrels a day. Production is done to preserve the pressure in the ground. The well would probably flow 300 barrels a day if they left it wide open, but would soon lose its bottom hole pressure and would then have to be pumped.

Sun Oil has started drilling the second well in Macon county and in a few days we should know whether the No. 1 Damery was a freak or whether all Silurian and other hard limestones will react

SII Speaker Lists Needs for Southern Illinois

W. A. Naumer is Installed President
Of Development Group

DU QUOIN, Ill. — Southern Illinois Inc. today moved into its 15th year of operation with the slogan "Let's get more in '54; let's sell Southern Illinois."

About 180 persons attended the annual meeting here Thursday night at which W. A. Naumer, Du Quoin meat packer, was installed as president of the development group. Naumer dedicated the year ahead to "building strength for Southern Illinois Inc."

L. R. Ardis, manager of the Norge plant at Herrin, said Southern Illinois' most important needs are:

1. Development of commercial aviation to match already adequate rail and truck transportation.

2. A greater supply of natural gas.

3. Further improvements in telephone and telegraph facilities.

4. More housing developments.

5. An end to competition among labor leaders for authority and jurisdictional disputes.

Need to Redouble Efforts
Ardis said "labor must work these things out for itself and not penalize industry." He also said that while Southern Illinois is assured of adequate electric power supplies, power rates must be at a level which is competitive with other sections of the country.

W. A. Dougherty, Carbondale, reported post-war industrial development in the area has averaged four new industries per year. He said 24 new industries employ about 3,500 persons but the area needs to redouble its efforts to attract industry.

Family of Pro-Red Daniel Pate Give Up Hopes of Life On Southern Illinois Farm

By ROBERT L. ULLRICH
United Press Staff Correspondent
CARBONDALE, Ill. — The Daniel Pate family, its eldest son lost to the Korean War as surely as if he had fallen in battle, today gave up hopes of building a happy life on an Illinois hilltop farm.

The son, Cpl. Arlie Pate, was one of 21 American prisoners of war who went behind the Bamboo Curtain Thursday into custody of the North Korean Red Cross after refusing repatriation. (Reports from Korea tell of a Communist party held for the 21 Americans at Kaesong).

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
God be merciful to me a sinner.
—Luke 18:13.

There never was but one perfect man and they crucified him. We all do need God's mercy. We failed and fell short. We are told to be perfect as the Father in Heaven is perfect. We have by no means measured up to that command.

DREW PEARSON Says:
Gouzenko Takes Seriously His Canadian Citizenship; Recalls Toast Of His Spy Chief: "Today Our Allies, Tomorrow Our Enemies!" Kremlin's "Most Wanted" Man Hasn't Left Canada—Too Risky For Him To Travel.

SOMEWHERE IN CANADA.
Igor Gouzenko is an animated, sometimes jumpy little bundle of nerves who had the courage to go to the Soviet embassy in Ottawa, walk past the NKVD guards, enter the barred door of the secret code room, and carefully stuff into his shirt 109 documents revealing the No. 1 development of the postwar world—namely, that Russia had stolen the secret of the atom bomb.

It was hot on that September evening of 1945 just after Hiroshima, and beads of perspiration trickled down Gouzenko's shirt as he carried the 109 documents to the Ottawa Journal, then to the minister of justice, then to the naturalization office, then back to make the rounds over again. But no one would believe, at first, that a Soviet spy ring had stolen the most priceless secret known to the Allies.

"This story is too big for us," they said. "We can't say anything bad about Joe Stalin."
This was the same reaction I got, incidentally, when I broke the story of what Gouzenko had done a few weeks later.

GOUZENKO ON TV
For a good part of two days last week I talked with this dynamic, nervous little man, first in a private home, whose owner I still do not entirely know and whose identity I could not reveal even if I wanted to; then dined in a private club which I couldn't possibly find again, then huddled in the kitchen and living room of a little farm house cluttered with television cameras, electric lights, electri-cians, people setting up sound tracks and making sandwiches and coffee in connection with the first TV interview Igo Gouzenko has ever given.

Gouzenko granted the interview despite the fact that he was reluctant to testify publicly before the Senate Internal Security committee, even wearing a mask, and only conferred with the senators in private. However, I persuaded him that it was important that the American people know the exact attitude of the Russian high command toward war with the United States. Naturally he wore a mask while before the cameras.

"Today our allies, tomorrow our enemies!" was the toast of his chief, Colonel Zabotin, top Russian spy in Canada; and Gouzenko has not forgotten it.

But in the same breath he made it clear that Zabotin was not human, that he had no great love for the Soviet and that even Zabotin might have followed in Gouzenko's footsteps and bolted to the free world, if given sufficient inducement.

Gouzenko takes most seriously his obligations as a Canadian citizen. He cherishes the certificate of citizenship given him by Viscount Alexander of Tunis, then governor general of Canada. And among other things he warned that the only thing Russia respects is armed force.

"If you let down the bars," he emphasized, "if you in the free world relax, if you do not keep a strong army and navy, then you encourage war. The only thing the Soviet respects is force."

LIFE IN DANGER
Gouzenko glances nervously over his shoulder as he talks, looks out the window, keeps an eye on passers-by when he walks down the street. His actions are those of one who knows that he is the most-wanted man in the world as far as the Kremlin is concerned.

He knows what pains the Kremlin took to reach all the way to Mexico City to murder Trotsky.
He knows also that the Kremlin must necessarily make an example of him in order to discourage others in Soviet military circles with espionage secrets from doing what he did.

So you can't blame him for looking over his shoulder, and peering through the window at the approach of an automobile.

The Canadian Royal Mounted Police was the agency which came to Gouzenko's rescue during those hectic September days in 1945 when both the Ottawa Journal and the minister of justice turned him down. And the mounted police have been his friends ever since.

One of them serves as a guard for his house, day and night, working as a gardener. Incidentally this gives Mrs. Gouzenko wonderful baby-sitter service. Mrs.
Gouzenko, by the way, is an extremely beautiful woman of about 28 and a great asset to her husband.

It was Mrs. Gouzenko who, when Igor hesitated to make the fateful break with the Soviet embassy in the summer of 1945, urged him to do it in a way that would help the country they hoped to adopt—Canada.

The Gouzenkos had a two-year-old child at that time, and she was six months on the way to having another. But she walked beside her husband through the hot streets of Ottawa that day, leading the two-year-old, while they tried to persuade Canadian authorities to take custody of the 109 documents before the Russian embassy discovered the loss and assassinated all three.

Mrs. Gouzenko has visited New York, likes the United States and Americans. Her husband has never been outside Canada since he left the Russian embassy nine years ago. It's considered too risky for him to travel; besides, he loves Canada.

Gouzenko has just written a novel to be published in April. It is called "The Fall of A Titan" and is the fictionalized story of Maxim Gorky. Those who have read the manuscript say that the man who transferred from the Red Army to military intelligence, because he could code and decode telegrams rapidly, now shows such promise as a novelist that an entirely new chapter may open in his hitherto not so humdrum career.

dor, Grand Falls on the Hamilton includes many prominent citizens of the community.

Last Resort" and also town constable whose great weakness is fainting each time he hears the word "blood"; Mary Louise Martin as Mrs. Augusta Van Sneering-ton who is in search for a rich husdoesn't know what it is.

Comedians of the show are John Gibson as Beulah Potts, colored maid at "Purdy's Last Resort," and Aline Hart who portrays the part of Gabrielle (Gabby) Hawkins, the town gossip who doesn't miss a trick; and Faye Hearn wise-cracking friend of Mary Lou.

Lewis Letter Blasts Labor Act Amendments

WASHINGTON ap — United Mine Workers Chief John L. Lewis today accused President Eisenhower of embracing "the long discredited doctrine that human labor is a commodity or article of commerce."

Lewis turned down an invitation to testify in Senate hearings on proposed revision of the Taft-Hartley Act. But in his letter declining the invitation, the UMW president said administration - proposed amendments amounted to "piecemeal tinkering" with a law that should be repealed.

"It is the first ugly, savage thrust of Fascism in America," Lewis wrote Chairman H. Alexander Smith (R. N. J.) of the Senate Labor Committee. "It should be repealed in toto."

Hits Strike Vote Proposal

Lewis said the 14 amendments proposed by Mr. Eisenhower would not remove the "discriminatory, punitive and oppressive provisions" of the Taft-Hartley law. He said some of the proposals were "pale palliatives, calculated false-ing elephant and the sprightly zebra do tricks. Bugs Bunny will be there as well as a clown, danc-

The country school skit also promises to be a big hit. The old

Lewis declared a bill introduced by Smith to carry out the administration recommendations would tend "to increase and compound the 'felony' already perpetrated on the American people in the original instance."

"A far cry, these amendments,

dential candidate in the summer

Presenting the 1954 CADILLAC

Styled to be Copied for Years to Come...

...and as Thrilling to Drive as to See!

The new "Standard of the World" is now on display in our showroom. It is not just a new model, but a wholly restyled and re-engineered Cadillac—new from its more massive grille to its more distinctive rear deck.

It is lower and longer in silhouette . . .
more modern and graceful in its body lines ... and with greater majesty and dignity in every detail. Beyond question, it is destined to influence the design of motor cars for years to come.

Matching this greater exterior beauty are Cadillac's luxurious new interiors—more generously proportioned and more beautifully appointed than ever before . . . and executed in a dazzling array of gorgeous new fabrics and leathers.

And, what is even more remarkable, this wonderful new Cadillac is as thrilling to drive as it is to see!

A great new 230-horsepower engine has added new power and responsiveness. A vastly improved Hydra-Matic Drive provides even greater smoothness and flexibility.
Advanced Cadillac Power Steering, now standard equipment on every model, brings with it a whole new concept of steering and handling ease. And new Cadillac Power

Braking* has introduced wonderful new motoring safety and convenience.

This greater Cadillac beauty—and this finer Cadillac performance—are available for 1954 in three brilliant new series of motor cars . . . the remarkable Series 62, the distinguished Fleetwood Series 60 Special and the magnificent Fleetwood Series 75. And, of course, there is also the supremely beautiful Cadillac Eldorado.

These inspiring creations are in our showroom now—awaiting your critical inspection.
We cordially invite you to see and drive them at your earliest opportunity.

Treasury Shows Concern Over Tax Legislation

WASHINGTON 28 — Treasury officials were reported today to be showing increasing concern about the way tax legislation is shaping up in Congress.

They are understood to be worried that Congress will: 1. Cut excise taxes on some items far more than they think the government can afford at this time, and 2. Won't move speedily enough on key parts of President Eisenhower's own tax program.

The concern about excise cuts stems from the strong support in Congress for a proposal advanced by Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts. Martin has suggested that all federal excise taxes except those on liquor and tobacco be cut back to a maximum of 10 per cent.

The treasury's concern about possible congressional failure to move fast enough on Mr. Eisenhower's own tax program stems chiefly from past experience with the chairman of the tax-framing House Ways & Means Committee, Rep. Daniel A. Reed (R-N. Y.). Reed fought the administration tooth and nail last year on tax questions.

West Demands

Russia Agree to

German Unity

BERLIN (AP) — The Western foreign ministers demanded today that Russia agree to German unification and warned that failure to settle the German problem may bring "ultimate disaster" for us all.

In an attempt to stop Soviet stalling on the German issue the Western foreign ministers first introduced in the Big Four conference a resolution providing that Russia's call for a disarmament conference be referred to the United Nations.

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, speaking for all three Western chief delegates, then demanded the German situation be taken up at once. He presented a five-point unification plan, and said a reunited Germany must be free to associate with any other nation or nations "for peaceful purposes."

This was a clear rejection of Soviet demands that Germany, if united, be forbidden to join either the North Atlantic Treaty Organization or the European defense pact.

French foreign minister Georges Bidault introduced the allied resolution to send the Soviet disarmament conference proposal to the U. N.

In doing so Bidault challenged Russia to join the West in "denouncing and outlawing" aid to aggressors anywhere in the world.

Study Plan to Raise, Extend Minimum Wages

WASHINGTON (UP) — Informed sources revealed today that the administration is working on a double-barreled plan for both raising and extending present minimum wages.

Tentatively, the proposal is to boost the present minimum from 75 to possibly 90 cents an hour for the 24-million workers now covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act.

At the same time, several million more workers would be brought under the program but at a lower minimum, possibly the present 75 cents an hour.

Also under discussion is a provision for gradually increasing the minimum for the newly-covered workers. This might be done on an industry-by-industry basis following studies and recommendations by individual industry committees.

Two-Thirds of Workers Exempt
The plan is being developed by a special Labor Department study committee set up by Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell. Informed sources said the committee should be able to complete its work this spring and submit it to the President for approval.

Mitchell has said he believes another 18 million workers should be covered by the law. Indications are, however, that the study committee is thinking in terms of about half this number at the present time.

The law provides for coverage of employees of firms engaged in interstate commerce. But the law's language actually exempts almost two-thirds of the nation's more than 60 million workers.

The minimum now covers most industrial workers. The largest groups not now covered are retail employees and farm workers. Officials indicated they are not considering extending coverage to farm workers at this time.

Sophomore Class Play Entertains Large Audience

An unusually large crowd attended the three-act comedy, "Meet Me in St. Louis," presented by the sophomore speech class in the Bonnell gymnasium last night at 8 o'clock.

Preceding the play and between acts the high school orchestra, directed by Marshall Cothran, entertained the audience with several light numbers.

The plot of the story centered around the Smith family which included Mr. Smith, Mrs. Smith, their daughters, Rose, Esther, Agnes, and Tootie, and a son, Lon. The thing that turned the family from their daily routine of life was the fact that father was being transferred from his job in St. Louis to a position in New York. This meant the family had to move too, and they were all perfectly satisfied with St. Louis.

Although the girls did everything imaginable to keep the family from moving, including the loss of father's job, everything turned out all right in the end.

"Meet Me in St. Louis," the first sophomore play of this kind, provided a full evening of entertainment.

Streamliner Hits Broken Rail; Four Persons are Injured

Don Newcombe Slated for Pay Increase When He Gets His Army Discharge

By UNITED PRESS

Big Don Newcombe, eager "to make up for lost time," learned today that he is in line for a salary raise from the Brooklyn Dodgers but he won't be able to sign his 1954 contract until Feb. 8.

The 27-year-old Newcombe, who will be discharged from the Army at Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 8, paid a visit to the Dodger office and was assured by Vice-President Buzby Bavasi that Brooklyn intends to pay him more than the $90 a month he receives from Uncle Sam currently.

It is believed that Newcombe, who won 20 games for the Dodgers in 1951 before leaving for service, will receive a $5,000 raise for 1954, bringing his salary to about $22,000.

Auto Owners Stress Safety Suggestions

CHICAGO (UP)—Most automobile owners are opposed to any further increases in horsepower, a survey by Popular Mechanics Magazine indicated today.

The magazine said it conducted a survey of 5,000 car owners and found that a majority apparently does not agree with the automobile manufacturers. Most felt that manufacturers should stress safety factors instead, the survey showed.

About 70 per cent were against continuing "the trend toward greater horsepower. Only 19 per cent approved of the 'horsepower race' among manufacturers.

The magazine said safety apparently was uppermost in the minds of the persons questioned. Safety suggestions included: Stronger roof structure, including roll-over bars; lower horsepower, governors or some type of speed control; better brakes and vision; better handling and roadability.

Many felt that cars should be built to give better gasoline mileage, the magazine said.

It said 53 per cent approved the trend toward power accessories, but only 50 per cent felt that automatic transmissions are worth the extra cost.

Free World Faces

Common Danger,

Turkish President Says

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Celal Bayar of Turkey warned the free world today that failure to face up to the danger of Communist aggression "can bring catastrophe to the peace loving community."

In an address prepared for a joint session of Congress, Bayar said Turkey, like all freedom loving countries, is facing "a common danger."

Bayar and his wife, on their first visit to the United States, will give a dinner in honor of President and Mrs. Eisenhower tonight at the Turkish embassy. The visiting Turkish first family spent their first night in Washington as guests at the White House.

Tomorrow the Bayars leave Washington for a swing across the nation. They will arrive back in New York Feb. 20 and will remain until Feb. 27 before departing for Turkey.

The funeral of President William Henry Harrison was the first ever held in the White House, where he died.

Jacksonville, Fla., of the Sally League before entering the Army in 1941; Modica posted a 9.5 slate with Nashville of the Southern Association last season; Picone won 14 and lost eight with Minneapolis of the American Association, and McCall was purchased from San Francisco of the Pacific Coast League where he had a 12-7 record.

The Yankees signed three young hopefuls, including outfielder first baseman Elston Howard, first Negro player ever to accompany the world champions to spring training. First baseman-catcher Gus Triandos and outfielder Bill Virdon were the other two players to sign.

Miks Signs With Cubs

Howard played with Kansas City of the American Association in 1953. Triandos batted .435 at Twin Falls, Idaho, .363 at Amsterdam, N. Y., and .368 at Birmingham, Ala., before being brought up by the Yankees last summer, and Virdon hit .317 at Birmingham.

Elsewhere in the majors, infielder Eddie Meksis, a .251 hitter in 142 games, became the 25th player to sign his 1954 contract with the Cubs while the Redlegs brought their total of signed players to 32 following the receipt of signed contracts from third baseman Bobby Adams and pitcher Jim Melton.

Stanky Removes

Himself From Active

Cardinal Player List

ST. LOUIS (UP)—Manager Eddie Stanky ended his colorful playing career today by removing himself from the St. Louis Cardinals active list.

The peppery second baseman, who made the move to leave room for a 33-year-old pitcher, said his 19 years as a player gave him "many thrills."

"But I know that they'll all be surpassed when the Cardinals win a pennant while I'm managing," he said from his home at Fairhope, Ala.

The player taking Stanky's place on the roster is Jim Walsh, whom the Cardinals bought today from Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League.

Lashes 'False Idea' Super Weapons Will Replace Army

FORT KNOX, Ky. (UP)—Gen. Charles L. Bolte, Army vice chief of staff, today lashed out at the "false idea" that super weapons including the H-bomb will replace the need for strong ground forces.

"The only way to defeat ground forces is by ground war," he said in a speech here. "The lesson of Korea should ever be before us."

Bolte's speech appeared to reflect the Army's concern about cuts ordered by the Eisenhower administration under its "new look" decision to emphasize air-atomic power.

The former U. S. Army commander in Europe said there was an "ardent desire for some cheap and easy method of fighting wars, a yearning to rely on some magic weapon that will be an absolute deterrent to war or an absolute weapon of victory if war should occur."

THE STORY: Grete Marratt, an escaped convict serving a term for murder, reaches the Arizona town of Bella Loma. Half starved, he visits a restaurant for food and the cook calls him "Luke," apparently mistaking him for someone else.

Before he had covered 50 feet of puddled ground the desire to lie down was at work on him and the lights of a boarding house loomed squarely ahead of him. A dollar a night, said the sign beneath the lantern to the left of the door. He had his hand on the knob when something hammered his right side and flung him halfway around.

You don't question the shock of lead ripping into you; there's no other feeling like it. Marratt knew he had been shot and was trying to spot the shooter when he realized what a beautiful target he presented crouched beneath that lantern.

He was reaching for it, whirling, when the second shot beat dust from the weathered facing of the doorframe. He flung the lantern into the mud of the road, dropping prone on the boards of the porch as he did so.

The third shot howled above Marratt's head and he heard it plow through the porch rail. That gave him the angle and he caught one brief glimpse of a short and broad shape vanishing around the corner of one of those across-the-street saloons.

He staggered onto his feet, trying to understand the psychology of a community which gave no attention to the racket of gunfire. Not a window had gone up, nor a door had been flung open. Nor could he think of any reason for this attempt on the life of a total stranger unless some truth lurked behind that cook's jawing and he had again been mistaken for somebody else.

It didn't make sense but he wasn't going to argue. He wasn't going to wait around for any further hints. The quicker he got out of this town the better he'd be suited.

Spiritual Song
By Jane Russell
Zooming to Hit

HOLLYWOOD — Jane Russell said today "I'm probably going to surprise people" again. She's recorded a song that's zooming to a hit—and it's a spiritual.

Hollywood's favorite brunet is known for other attributes that so paled the censors in 3D that the movie, "French Line," is being chopped.

But meantime Jane has been quietly busy on her own time recording a religious tune, "Do Lord," with three other show business beauties, Connie Haines, Beryl Davis and Della (Mrs. Andy) Russell.

"I guess I manage to surprise people all the time," laughed the movie queen between scenes on her RKO set.

"We're very excited about the record. The reaction has been terrific. I adored doing the song—I've never had so much fun. We plan to record a million of 'em."

He'd been taken in and cared for but you couldn't pin hope on that; even now his unknown benefactor might be summoning a sheriff. How much time had elapsed since he'd been shot in Bella Loma? How much ground had he covered since turning his back on Bella Loma's lights? Where was the person who had fetched him here and how long had that person been gone from the house?

A look at the logs in the fireplace assured him the Samaritan hadn't been out of the room long, not over 10 or 15 minutes.

It was only then he discovered he had been undressed. Stripped naked! And no clothes in sight!

That gave him a turn and brought the sweat out again. There was a bandage strapped tight about his ribs but you couldn't go wandering around in a bandage!

Very carefully, he rolled over and got one foot down solid on the uncarpeted floor preparatory to rising.

With both hands braced firmly under him he reckoned he could anyway get into a sitting position before his hurt side slugged him into a faint. He could try, and he was going to. Because any gent that would take a fellow's clothes away from him—

He didn't finish the thought because just then he put his hands down and one of them connected with the barrel of a pistol. It was laying on the couch fully loaded except, of course, for the single chamber on which the hammer rested.

The weight of that pistol in his hand made him feel about seven feet tall and gave him enough gumption to bear the pain of getting onto his feet.

White-cheeked and dizzy, he had just got the blanket wrapped around his middle and was fixing to hunt the house for clothes when he heard the approaching crunch of boots in the gravel outside the room's west door.

Marratt turned, braced the gun against his hip and waited.

Harrisburg's Junior high school cagers took two games from Metropolis Thursday afternoon. The games were played on the local floor.

The local 7th grade team won by a count of 42-16 and the 8th graders were the victors, 50-40.

The starters on the 8th grade team, Abel, Clark, Biggs, Price and Yates, played all but a minute of the game and everyone broke into the scoring column, with the low man having 9 points and the high scorer coming up with 12. Stanley entered the game just before it was completed.

Warmath Named Head Grid Coach At Minnesota

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Murray Warmath, head football coach at Mississippi State, was appointed successor to Wes Fesler as Minnesota head football coach in a surprise move today.

The appointment of Warmath, who had figured in no advance speculation for the Minnesota job, was announced by Athletic Director Ike Armstrong at a news conference.

Warmath has been head coach at Mississippi State, situated at State College, Mississippi, for the past two seasons. Before that he served as line coach at Army under Red Blaik for three seasons.

Warmath, 41, was interviewed for the Minnesota job in 1950 following the resignation of Bernie Bierman. The job at that time went to Fesler, who resigned Dec. 14 to enter the radio business.

At Mississippi State during the last two years Warmath won 10 games, lost 6 and tied 3.

Bo Winger Fires 11-Under-Par 61 to Lead in Tournament

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—One of the greatest rounds in professional golfing history, an 11-under-par 61, gave Bo Winger of Oklahoma City only a two-stroke lead over the field as the second round of the 72-hole $15,000 Palm Springs Thunderbird Invitational tournament got underway.

It may be that the course is easy, or that the golfers are taking advantage of exceptional weather conditions, but in any event, 29 out of the 36 professionals competing bettered par.

Muddy Cagers Win Midget Loop Tourney

Muddy's grade school cagers took top honors in the Midget conference tournament by edging out Dorrisville in the championship game Thursday evening 46-45 in overtime. The tourney was held in the Raleigh gym.

Raleigh won the consolation game with a 59-39 victory over Galatia.

In the championship go Muddy built up a good lead in the opening half and seemed to have things under control. In the third quarter Dorrisville began to cut away the margin and continued to outscore Muddy in the final frame. With about a minute to play Dorrisville went into a 43-42 lead, then Muddy bounced back to knot the count 43-43 just as regulation time ran out.

In the overtime Muddy counted a free throw and fielder to take a three point advantage early, then Dorrisville hit from the field to narrow the gap to a point, the way the game ended.

Raleigh led Galatia all the way in the battle for third place, holding a 12-4 lead at the quarter, 23-18 at the half and 37-26 after three quarters.

Following the final game trophies were awarded the captains of the three winning squads by Raleigh cheer leaders, with Cecil Fulkerson, Raleigh school superintendent, master of ceremonies. Thompsonville Suffers Its First Conference Loss as Royallon Wins, 70-64

Thompsonville's hopes for a second straight Little Egyptian conference title suffered a blow last night, as the Tigers dropped an overtime contest to contending Royallon, 70-64. It was Thompsonville's first loop loss of the season.

Royallon is the only LEC club with a mathematical chance of overhauling the Tigers. Thompsonville now has a record of 11-1 with two games remaining in conference play. Royallon has an 8-2 record with four games.

Thompsonville must now win both its remaining tussles to assure themselves an undisputed championship. A loss to either of their foes, Valier or Blufford, might bring a conference tie with Royallon. On the other hand, if the Agers were to lose both games while Royallon was winning all four of their remaining loop encounters, the Pirates could make off with sole possession of the title.

Had Thompsonville defeated the Pirates last night, they would have captured their second conference title right then.

Wild Fourth Quarter
Coach Bob Munday's boys were well on the way to that championship when Royallon arose to a 25-point fourth quarter. Ahead 12-8 at the quarter and 35-22 at the intermission, the Tigers, appeared safely entrenched. They were still in command, 49-39, when the last canto commenced.

360 Players Selected in Pro Grid Draft

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—National Football League coaches, who agreed last year that the college change to offense puzzled today over what they actually picked up in the league's 19th annual player draft.

In all, 360 players were selected, including Stanford's Bob Garrett, the nation's leading college passer last season who was the bonus choice of the Cleveland Browns. But there were many puzzling delays as the coaches relied on past information to judge future players.

While the coaches sifted through their choices, the club owners moved into a discussion of rules and other business. Top item will be a proposal by Commissioner Bert Bell to halt the practice of stopping the clock with fake injuries. Bell also wants a new regulation to prevent players from "piling on" the ball carrier.

The draft saw coaches in many cases digging out records of two years ago to find out how players performed on the offense, and scanning the double platoon data in an effort to size up prospects.

Lattner Seventh Selected
However, other coaches said the college shift to the single platoon did not disturb them.

There was a pronounced slowdown in the early rounds when coaches mulled deeply on the offensive and defensive abilities of prime players before making a selection. The pace was speedier in the latter rounds when less prominent players were on the block.

The lovely Chicago Cardinals, with first choice, picked Lamar McHan of Arkansas in the first round, bypassing such standouts as Johnny Lattner and Art Hunter of Notre Dame, Steve Meilinger of Kentucky and scores of others.

As the coaches picked by need for their teams, Lattner was the seventh man tapped and Meilinger was the eighth. Standouts like Paul Cameron of Southern California fasted as long as the 91st pick and Minnesota's Paul Giel went No. 102. All the coaches knew Giel's preference for baseball, however.

tors, 25-15, in that wild final eight minutes, knotting the score at 64-44 and sending it into an overtime session. Once rolling, the Pirates were unstoppable. They piled up six-points in the extra session while Thompsonville went scoreless.

The Tigers defeated Royallon, 73-64, early in the season, but since had been ousted from two tournaments by the demon Pirates—in the Equality Invitational, 74-60, and in the Little Egyptian conference meet, 54-52. Royallon went on to win both tourneys.

THOMPSONVILLE — Logsdon 16, Schwabe 14, Isaacs 16, Lemmon 10, Simpson 7, Marsh 1. ROYALTON — Bellina 16, King 8, Sohn 16, Redman 20, Aikin 4, Hicks 5, Schirmer 1.

Schlundt Leads Big 10 Scoring

CHICAGO (AP)—Don Schlundt, Indiana's gigantic center who won the Big Ten individual scoring crown a year ago, was headed for another title today with the league's best shooting percentage from the floor.

Schlundt, who has netted 181 points with no defeats for an average of 30.2 per game, has hit on 51.9 per cent of his field goal efforts and on 80.7 per cent of his gift tosses.

His overall average gave him nearly a two point per game margin over Illinois' pacesetter, Johnny Kerr, who has hit 28.3 points per contest to grab second place in the individual chase.

Conference statistics showed that balance between offense and defense was more important than a tight defense alone or solely a huge offense.

Indiana, undefeated in league play, ranked fourth on defense and second on offense, while Ohio State, the scoring leader, was 10th on defense and has won only one in six league battles.

Iowa, in second place, was the top defensive team and was fifth on offense.

Big Ten Teams Resume Action This Weekend

CHICAGO (AP)—Big Ten basketball action warms up again this weekend after a semester break for some clubs with seven teams slated for competition, four of them in league games.

The conference scraps will be Michigan State at Minnesota and Ohio State at Purdue.

Non-league battles open Friday night, when Northwestern plays at Butler, while other Saturday clashes will be Washington U. of St. Louis at Michigan and Illinois vs. De Paul in the feature of a college doubleheader in the Chicago Stadium.

Home teams were the favorites in all but two encounters. Illinois, coming back for its first game since Jan. 18 when it lost to Iowa, was a two point choice over De Paul. Both teams have won nine and lost four games.

Minnesota, in third place in the Big Ten race and beaten only once in five games, was a 10 point favorite over the Spartans, who were tied for sixth place.

Ohio State and Purdue will be playing to get out of the league basement. Each has won only once in six games and shared the cellar with Northwestern. Purdue was a two point choice.

Northwestern was a six point favorite over Butler, even though on the Butler floor, while Michigan was a one-sided 18 point choice over the Washington U. five.

Drawings Tonight At 6:30 to Open County Tourney

The drawing to determine which teams will meet in the opening round of the Saline county basketball tournament will be held at 6:30 tonight at Davenport gym.

Teams drawn to meet in the first game will then take the floor for the warmup prior to the initial contest, which will start at seven o'clock.

The teams drawn to meet in the second game will start their contest around 8:30. Losers of the two games will play at 7 p. m. Saturday, the winners for the county title at 8:30. The schools participating are Harrisburg, Eldorado, Galatia and Carrier Mills.

Referees will be Charles Roberts of Murphysboro, Ernie Driggers and Hubert Griffith of Mt. Vernon and Charles "Rocky" Rothschild of Cairo.

HTHS Freshmen Defeat Benton Frosh, 63 to 56

Coach John VanderPluym's freshman basketball team journeyed to Benton last night and came home with a 63 to 56 victory.

The locals made 25 field goals to but 11 for Benton, but the young Rangers connected with 34 free throws to but 13 for Harrisburg. Thirty-six fouls were called against Harrisburg, 24 against Benton.

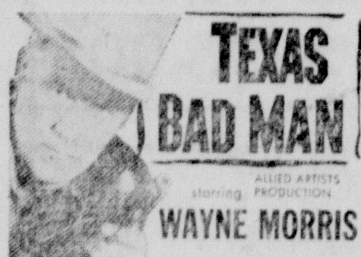

VanderPluym used two combinations, one consisting of Jim and Charles Cummins, Trevor White-side, Bobbie Shewmake and Gary Crews, the other of Bill Bottomley, Bill Henshaw, Bennie Fulkerson, Johnny Ziegler and Bryan Jones. Henshaw was high point man, making 19 points in the two quarters he was in the game.

Herrin freshmen will be here Monday night and Benton will come to the local gym Thursday night.

Delay Sentence Of Du Quoin Slot Machine King

SPRINGFIELD — Du Quoin slot machine operator Breen Greer today started raising $80,000 in back taxes for the government after being granted a seven-week delay in starting a three-year prison term for tax evasion.

Federal Judge Leroy Adair Thursday postponed the beginning of Greer's sentence from next Monday to March 22.

Adair extended the time after Greer's attorneys said the delay would allow Greer to pay $80,000 to $90,000 of the taxes and penalties the government said Greer owes.

Total amount of the unpaid 1945-47 taxes has been in dispute. The government charged he owed $250,000 including penalties, but Greer pleaded guilty only to evasion of $62,500 for 1946 and his attorneys said the total amount for all three years is less than the figure set by the government.

Greer will ask for a reduction of the three-year sentence at a hearing before Judge Charles G. Briggie March 22, subject to his approval.

Briggie, who originally heard the case and sentenced Greer on Jan. 5, will return from vacation Feb. 15. Adair gave the 55-year-old Greer's attorneys until Feb. 8 to file their motion for reduced sentence.

Greer has not denied government charges that most of his income came from slot machines. He got into the operation of slots in the early 1930s and operated juke boxes and other coin machines throughout most of southern Illinois. His investments with the profits included more than 1,000 acres of farmland, the government said.

Mother Ordered To Enroll Son in Another School

WAUKEGAN, Ill. — Lake County Judge Minard E. Hulse has ordered Mrs. Marie Dawson, 39, who with her son staged a week-long sitdown strike in the Half Day, Ill., public school, to enroll the boy in another school.

Officials of the Half Day school told Hulse that Frank Dawson, 13, had not been attending classes regularly since Oct. 16 and was expelled Nov. 9.

Early this month Mrs. Dawson and Frank staged a sitdown strike in a corner of the seventh and eighth grade room and refused to leave. They attended classes for a full school week.

Mrs. Dawson maintained at the time that Frank was ill and she demanded an intelligence test for her son. School officials refused and took the case to school board officials.

Thursday Hulse continued the case to Feb. 11 when, he said, he hoped the order will have been carried out.

Centralia Forms Organization to Promote Industry

CENTRALIA, Ill. — The Centralia Chamber of Commerce Thursday night approved the establishment of Centralia Industries Inc., an organization to promote new industries in the Centralia area.

Larry Sheets, Chamber of Commerce executive secretary, is the registered agent for the organization which will issue 10,000 shares of common stock with a par value of $20 a share. No date was set for sale of stock which will be registered with the state of Illinois.

Sheets said Centralia Industries Inc. will be a 15-year-for-profit corporation with nine members on the board of directors.

Successful Test May Reopen Oil Boom

to fracturing as this great well has done.

What Is Fracturing?

"Fracturing", in the layman's terms, is simply the cracking of the oil bearing rock so that the oil will flow freely into the hole.

It is a relatively new operation discovered in recent years in Tulsa, Oklahoma by a petroleum chemist engineer, Dr. George Roberts, along with the assistance of Floyd Farris, Joel Clark, George Howard, Charles Fast, H. W. Brainerd and W. G. Bearden.

This new process has been very successful in the oil fields of the southwest and Texas but just in the last year, in the Illinois Oil basin, mostly on old abandoned, dry holes that tested very little oil on drill stem tests, being reopened and fractured.

How It Works

Gel, (a mixture of oil and chemicals) is mixed in a large mixer at the surface of the hole, with white, clean, large grained sand. It is then pumped through special tubing installed inside of the casing, with a high pressure portable pump that will build up a head of more than 2,000 pounds, down to the oil bearing strata where it is forced into the surrounding hard rock at the bottom of the hole.

The hydraulic force of the fluid "fractures" the pay zone and the sand in the fluid "props" open the cracks. After all of the gel and sand have been pumped into the tubing with rubber packers that prevent the fluid from escaping up the hole.

The gel thins at the bottom of the hole, due to the intensity of the heat, which gets greater the deeper you go, letting it flow freely into the oil bearing formation. In about 12 hours, the pressure is released from the tubing and the oil begins to flow up the casing, if it is going to be an oil well.

Today, White and Wayne counties have more active operations than anytime in their 16 years of oil business, due almost entirely to this fracturing of pay zones. Sixty per cent of the production is coming from old abandoned holes where the Aux Vases (pronounced O-Vas) didn't show any signs of commercial oil when drill stem tested. After fracturing, many of them have flowed as much as 400 barrels of oil a day.

Saline and Gallatin counties can look forward this year to much of this same activity, since the Aux Vases sand in this area is a lot like the Aux Vases sands of Wayne and White counties.

Montreal Women Terrorized by Phantom Slasher

MONTREAL — A "phantom slasher" roamed free in this Canadian metropolis today and thousands of women walked in fear that they might be next to feel the sharp sting of his razor on their legs.

The will-o'-the-wisp slasher has struck 13 times in the past seven days — three times Thursday — making quick sweeps of his blade across the legs of women and teenage girls at busy intersections and bus and streetcar stops.

One victim described him as "a crazy-looking man" with a "maniacal laugh."

Many schools were closing classes earlier than scheduled after a 15-year-old girl was slashed on her way home from school Wednesday.

Unlike the "Jack-the-Ripper" slayer who terrorized London women half a century ago, the Montreal slasher seemed content to wound rather than kill. Police believed the slasher was a sexual deviate.

One officer said the slasher might be a woman, dressed in a man's clothing and spurred on by jealousy over pretty legs. But police said the main theory was that the attacker was a man who derived sexual satisfaction from inflicting the gashes.

Lawrence County State's Attorney, Lawyer Fined

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ill. — Lawrence County State's Atty. Roscoe D. Cunningham and Attorney Philip Benefiel exchanged punches after an argument over an assault case Thursday in county court.

County Judge Richard Simpson, who was hearing the case when the punching started, fined both $50, lectured them sternly against a repeat performance, and continued the case for 10 days, releasing the defendant under $500 bond.

Benefiel, a candidate for Democratic nomination to the State Legislature, was attorney for Robert Westall, charged with assault and assault with a deadly weapon.

He first objected that Westall's case had been called before his attorney was notified. In the exchange of words, he asked Cunningham what the state recommended and was told "a year."

Benefiel objected even more violently and the exchange erupted into fistuffs.

Gouzenko Warns U. S. to Watch Soviet Ambassador

WASHINGTON — Igor Gouzenko, the Soviet clerk who broke a Red spy network in Canada, today warned the United States to keep a close eye on Soviet Ambassador Georgi N. Zarubin.

Gouzenko noted that Zarubin was head of the Russian embassy in Ottawa in 1945 when "at least nine independent spy rings" were operating. Zarubin was later sent to Washington by his government.

"I would suggest to watch him, to be careful," Gouzenko said in a television interview with Drew Pearson.
